

What to Know Before Applying for Multi-Entry UAE Visas

A multi-entry visa is good for entry to and exit from the UAE multiple times during its valid period. This type of visa is most often used by tourists, business people, or visitors who visit the UAE often and who want a flexible option rather than making new applications for a visa each time they want to enter the UAE.

What is a Multi-Entry Visa?

A Multi-Entry Visa is a Visa that allows you to leave and enter the UAE multiple times during its duration of validity. There are limitations regarding how long you can remain in the UAE per entry based on the type of Visa you have.

Who Would Benefit From Applying for This Visa?

Examples of people that would benefit from this visa are:

- Frequent Business Travellers
- Tourists who visit the UAE multiple times a year
- People who have family living in the UAE
- People who want to Invest or Visit their Property in the UAE.

Basic Requirements

The requirements may vary. Generally, to apply for a multi-entry visa, you will need to submit:

- Valid passport (at least 6 months)
- Passport-size photo
- Provide proof of financial status
- Travel insurance (in some instances)
- Completed application form.

The types of multi-entry visas, commonly offered, are the following:

- Short term, (30-90 days)
- 1-year multiple entry
- 5-year, long-term tourist visa

Each type of visa has different lengths of time for each entry.

Important Rules

How Long Are You Allowed To Stay For Each Visit?

- 30-90 days is the limit for most visits
- If you remain longer than permitted, there are potential fines.

- Other documents may have specific timelines in which the applicant must enter after the visa has been approved.

Some visas may allow extensions and others will not.

Tips on Avoiding Common Errors When Applying For A Visa Include The Following:

- Error in submitting improperly complete form
- Submitted outdated passport copies
- No requirements to prove sufficient liquid funds
- Overstayed previous visa
- Apply through unofficial channels.

Final points

A multi-entry UAE visa will give you more flexibility and will make travelling to (and back) from the UAE easy. Therefore, knowing the rules and preparing all the required documentation correctly will help you avoid unnecessary delays or even possibility of having an application rejected.
